

Money (energy)

God has chosen me to be a wise steward over an abundance of money or the means of exchanging energy.

I love the abundance of life, nature, and money that surround me.

I feel gratitude for abundant money, wealth, health, happiness, safety and peace.

I love having the friend, money to help me to obtain and accomplish much good.

I am happy in the abundant lifestyle of peace, freedom and financial security.

I love feeling safe, secure, abundantly provided for, and content.

I love feeling the peace of freedom and financial independence.

I safely and happily exchange money for goods and services.

I am always treated fairly and kindly in my energy exchanges.

I always receive in fair and equal ways, according to what I give.

I am blessed and prospered as I bless and prosper others in good and fair exchanges of energy.

I trust in the goodness of God and His plan of success through the free flow of energy in this sphere.

I am always safe, protected, and prospered in my fair exchanges of energy.

My goods and services are valuable, useful, good and desireable.

I am enough.

From now on, all my resources are used wisely and well.

All of my wisely-used resources always produce and foster increasing abundance, prosperity and gratitude.

People love and appreciate everything I do for them.

My good work is always acknowledged and appreciated.

I am financially safe and I always practice sound economic principles.

I am always blessed and prospered in my business, financial, and economic dealings.

I always have plenty of every good thing.

I am always fair and kind to others and others are always fair and kind to me.
